Helmand Province, Afghanistan is known as one of the most dangerous places in the world. I spent seven months as a Marine with 4th Light Armored Reconnaissance in the southern most region of this province. I am thankful to have had the opportunity to capture photos of this area and share them with all who are interested in seeing this war-torn country from a different perspective.

Organized Crime: The World's Largest Social Network

By Patrick Di Justo, Adam Rogers, and Allison Davis  January 31, 2011 | 12:00 pm | Wired February 2011

CRIME, ORGANIZED

The Mafia, la Cosa Nostra, the Yakuza, Mexican cartels—the underworld is ruled by a complex network of criminal groups. Here's how they fit together.

$128 billion
Total estimated value of organized criminal activity.

Flow of Transnational Organized Crime

Touch each number to read about a criminal organization.

 Click the Icon to see a breakdown.

Just how organized is organized crime? Think of it as the world's largest and most illicit social network. Modern organized crime has, for the most part, done away with the kind of hierarchical structures the Mafia once favored—capos, dons, lieutenants, and so forth—and has embraced local, just-in-time, ad hoc networking to solve problems or exploit opportunities. Transnational organized crime—that is, cooperative activity between criminal groups in various nations—is estimated to be a $2 trillion industry, larger than the economy of Spain. Its constant cycling of drugs, people, and counterfeit merchandise represents a shadow market that spans five continents.

WHAT'S THIS ALL ABOUT?

It's pretty simple really. It's about taking a self-indulgent goal — riding across the USA — and using it as a two-wheeled vehicle for helping those fighting the biggest douchebag of all, cancer.

Join Precious (the bike) and Janeen (the rider) as they put aside their

HOW DOES IT ALL WORK?

Precious's brain is an on-board device that captures all of his experiences, combined with a cloud-based system that analyzes those experiences. Put this all together and get a bike that's able to express itself in his own words. He shares his up-to-the-moment thoughts and has a subconscious which allows him to dream about all he's been through. Take a peek into how his brain functions below...

Visualizing the Stanley Cup

An interactive view of the teams that played in the Stanley Cup finals since the NHL was formed in 1927.

Roll your mouse over the team logos to see which years they made it to the cup. Blue bars mean they won, red means they lost.

Mouse over the years to see that year's matchup. Who won the year you were born?

What are we looking at here?

I'm a fairly new hockey fan, and building this visualization helped me get a sense for the history of the championship. (You know, so I can fake my way through conversations with real hockey fans.)

Just by mousing around for a bit, I can easily see that:

- Montreal pretty much consistently dominated up until the 90's.
- If you were a fan of ANYONE besides the Islanders or the Oilers in the 80's, you were pretty bummed out.
- Ottawa had a HUGE dry spell (nevermind, they actually disbanded for 66 years).

HTML5/CSS3 rocks

This is also an exploration of several display technologies available in modern web browsers (canvas, font-embedding, css transitions, etc). I wanted to see how rich of a visualization I could create using nothing more than CSS and javascript.

Our Passion is Your Benefit

A result of our crew being so well-rounded is that we cover a wide skill-set. It's all the good stuff from a big, fancy agency with the agility of a nimble small business.

HIRE US BECAUSE

We're Creative Powerhouses

- We're small, agile, organized, specialized and highly-experienced. We aren't just filling seats, every team member is on your project for a reason: they're a hand-selected expert at what they do.

More Than Just Brains

- We aren't just smart. We're fun, well-rounded, and passionate about our work. We strive to make your project friendly, straight-forward and enjoyable from end-to-end – and if you're not careful, you might just learn a thing or two in the process.

Ain't No Bait & Switch Here

- Unlike some big agencies, the big guns that we bring to your meetings are the folks actually building your project. What you'll see is what you want. It's also what you'll get.

MEET THE TEAM

FRIENDS WHO HELP US

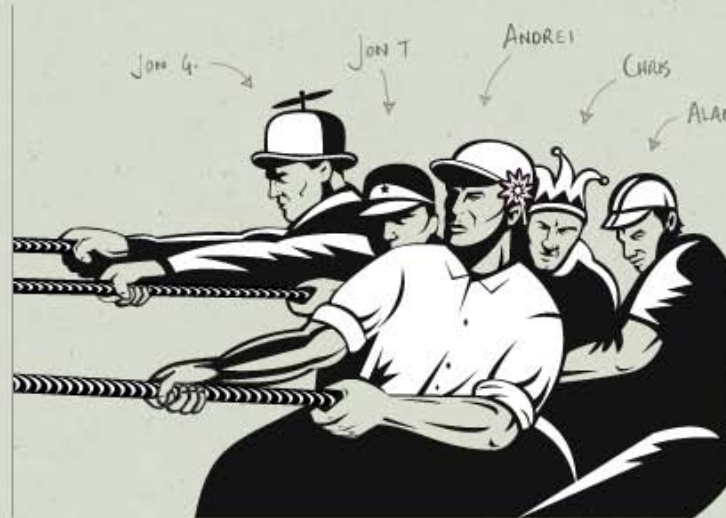

We'd hire them full-time ourselves if we could, but we don't have the parking for that.

Analog

Analog is a company of friends who make web sites. It's a co-operative where imagination, design, and engineering thrive; good people doing good work.

By the way, with some GeoIP guesswork, it looks like you're in Germany. Alan and Jon are closest to you — about 400 miles away in Bristol.

PEOPLE & WORK

We're a tight-knit group of designers — Alan Colville and Jon Tan — and developers — Andrei Zmievski, Chris Shiflett, and Jon Gibbins.

In our first year, we've been busy working on Mapalong, a social mapping application. We organized Brooklyn Beta to critical acclaim with Fictive Kin. In the summer, we opened Mild Bunch HQ, a coworking studio in Bristol.

We also spoke at a few conferences: PHP UK 2011, New Adventures in Web Design 2011, and Webstock 2010 to name a handful. We were interviewed for 8 Faces magazine, helped design issue 2, and published articles in 52 Weeks, UX Booth, the New Adventures paper, and elsewhere. Finally, we also shared #grid. Phew, we've been busier than we thought.

“Give me problems, give me work.”

In the year 1878 I took my degree of Doctor of Medicine of the University of London, and proceeded to Netley to go through the course prescribed for surgeons in the army. Having completed my studies there, I was duly attached to the Fifth Northumberland Fusiliers as Assistant Surgeon. The regiment was stationed in India at the time, and before I could join it, the second Afghan war had broken out. On landing at Bombay, I learned that my corps had advanced through the passes, and was already deep in the enemy’s country.
